WVSRT Members-

The Alliance for Responsible Professional Licensing hosted a briefing February 24, 2021 to review the findings and conclusions of its latest economic research study.

This study is entitled: "Valuing Professional Licensing in the US" and is the first study of its kind to link licensing and economic benefits for professionals. While this document does not include Medical Imaging in their analysis, there is concern for future reviews and how it may impact our Profession.

The following link will allow you to access and review the three documents posted to the Alliance for Responsible Professional Licensing website:
